

Please let us know if your family has welcomed a new baby into your life. We would love to share in your celebration by placing a rose on our Sunday Worship Table and announcing the news in our Sunday bulletin.

Our interim Communications and Youth Ministries Coordinator, Liz Collins, is seeking housing and would love to reach out to the congregation with this need. She is seeking summer and/or long term housing for herself, has no pets. If you, or anyone you know, may have a good fit, feel free to reach Liz at, lcollins@pcjh.org or at 573.418.7704 .

EXTERIOR STAINING

Calling all MEN and WOMEN !

Our Buildings and Grounds Committee is looking for YOU! In our desire to be responsible stewards of our gifts, we are planning to stain our much needed exterior building using as many PCJH volunteers as possible.

The July Saturdays that have been set aside are:

July 15, July 22 and July 29
from 9am-3pm.

ANY TIME that you can donate to us during those dates is a gift ! We will provide all the supplies except your painting clothes in addition to doughnuts, coffee and lunch. Not all areas require use of a ladder or previous painting experience. Contact Peter Keenan with any additional questions keenanprk@gmail.com

PLEASE help us accomplish this summer facility goal.

Every Member a Minister

“Where there is no vision, the people perish.”
-Proverbs 29:18

“Where there is vision, the people flourish.” -PCJH Vision Team

Dear PCJH Family,

Our vision team continues to faithfully meet every Wednesday morning for about two hours. Currently we are in the process of rumination and generation as we discern how God is leading us and how best to articulate the vision for PCJH.

We are starting with the very foundation of our church by relooking at our church vision, mission, and values statement. This has taken a considerable amount of work as this statement will set the direction for PCJH as we journey into this next chapter of life together. I am pleased to say that we have made great progress and we have a compelling vision, mission and values statement coming to fruition that will give us a clear and exciting understanding of our vision for ministry, what our mission is as a church in order to accomplish that vision, and what we value and hold in high regard. Essentially it will give us a clear sense of identity and direction.

We have also spent time refining and articulating what our core beliefs are as a congregation. When it comes time to share a draft of our new vision, mission, values, and core beliefs, I think you will find that we are not making any major changes to who we are, we are simply expressing who we are in a new, clear, fresh, and exciting way.

As you can imagine, working on these statements takes time, energy, discernment, prayer, creativity, wordsmithing, and so on. At times it can feel arduous but we know that it is extremely important foundational work.

In addition to these very important guiding statements, we are also working on clearly articulating several key strategic objectives that will guide us into the next two to five years and possibly even into the next 10 years.

Coming up with a comprehensive vision for the church has been a BHAG (big hairy audacious goal) of mine ever since becoming senior pastor of PCJH. It is incredible to see how God is moving and working through this congregation, the church staff, our Session, and this vision team. I think you will be pleased with the result.

We are not yet ready to unveil anything to you. First we need to finish our draft which will take another month or so. Then we plan on presenting a draft to Session, staff, the various committees, and ultimately to the congregation before we set anything in stone.

I believe the vision process is like a dance. It requires leading and following; back and forth; twists and spins; practice and good communication. Ultimately may this dance bring beauty to the church and glory to our God.

Thank you for your prayers and your patience as our vision team faithfully and prayerfully works through this process. Our hope is that we will see lives flourish in Jesus Christ as we bring this vision to reality.

Be sure to encourage and thank our vision team:

1. Kathy Robertson (Chair)
2. Warren VanGenderen (Session)
3. Deb Keenan (Deacon)
4. Rick Unruh (Member at Large)
5. Rev. Tammy Mitchell
6. Rev. Ben Pascal

Also, if you have any questions or comments please feel free to direct them to any member of the team.

To God be the glory,

-Ben

As a follow up to our men's retreat, Bill Klyn has offered to host a men's BBQ at his house. Here are the details below. Please feel free to invite other men who were not able to make it on the retreat.

2017 RUMMAGE SALE WRAP UP

Thanks to all who worked so hard to make this year's sale a success, from donors to volunteers to shoppers.

The intent of the Rummage Sale is to get reasonably priced items into the hands of those who need them most. Ten families selected by One 22 shopped early Friday evening and were so happy with the items they received, such as bicycles, toys, clothing and household items. This is always the highlight of the sale for Diane and me.

Saturday began with gathering all the volunteers for a prayer with Pastor Ben. 57 volunteers ranging from new members to charter members and friends of members and others in the community worked throughout the week setting up and sorting. About twelve volunteers worked the entire week. Some volunteers worked the sale for the first time and others have been volunteering for years even driving from out of state to participate.

At the end of the sale we were blessed with the help of 26 high school students from St. David's Baptist School in Raleigh, NC who were in Jackson for a service project that was cancelled and that were fortunately referred to us. They were amazing in bagging and labeling leftovers from the sale for us to distribute to various charities in our area and abroad. For the elder volunteers like me, it was a blessing to have these energetic kids having fun while they worked doing stuff that was not so thrilling like sorting hangers, lifting bags fireman brigade style to pass to cars and trucks and even mopping the Fair Building. The clean up was done in record time.

Wanted to let you know that the Delcon trailer that you saw parked in the PCJH parking lot for a month was filled to capacity this year and was such a big help in presorting lots of items. Thank you Dean Lewis for your generous loan once again this year.

Also special thanks to K Mart for giving us the great racks to display items for the sale, Garth and Christy Gillespie for use of their truck to pick up and distribute items, Blue Spruce and Ryan Cleaners for donating hangers, the Town of Jackson for lending us parking barricades, the Community Foundation for use of their sun canopy and volunteer vests, Jackson Hole Police Dept. for allowing Kent Nichols to be on horseback directing traffic and keeping us safe and Pamela Stockton for her expertise in pricing higher end items and Westbank Sanitation for use of a trash dumpster for the week.

In case you didn't know your Rummage is someone else's Treasure and we never know what we will find when we unpack your bags and boxes of donated items. If you didn't come to this year's sale, please plan on coming next year. There were so many good finds from lovely jewelry pieces to designer clothing, active wear, leather goods, bikes, baby equipment, toys, tools, household items and decorative stuff too.

Thanks to all of our volunteers: Michael Adams, Vickie Atwater, Jan Benz, Brian Bultema, Susan Bybee, Susan Dong, Lynn Finkel, Pam Flores, Steve Fralin, Linda Hanlon, Yvonne Henzey, Dennis Holton, Ralph Huddleson, Margaret Jones, Terry Jones, Becky Jordan, Tom Jordan, Carol Kelleghan, Joyce Leather, Tamara Mitchell, Georgia Ligori, Alan Lund, Irene Lund, Julie Matzke, Jessica Miller, Jim Miller, Marg McAllister, Jackie Montgomery, Diane Nichols, Kent Nichols, June Nystrom, Ventura Perez, Randy Reedy, Jeanne Robbins, George Scarlett, Dorie Schwartz, Duane Schneider, Nancy Schneider, Amy Scott, John Shipman, Joanie Shipman, Janice Skinner, Laura Soltau, Stan Steiner, Ron Stevens, Pamela Stockton, Tiffany Tate, Bobbie Thomasma, Ken Thomasma, Larry Van Genderen, Martha Van Genderen, Lance Windey, Suzanne Young, Sam Zender, Sandra Zender, Sarah Zender and Megan Zolnowsky.

Debbie Schlinger and Mary Waid provided lunch for the volunteers two days.

It is always a pleasure working with all of you and making new friends.

Prior to the sale we receive wish list from various organizations in our area and pull out items to give to them before or after the sale.

One 22, Habitat for Humanity, the Learning Center, Headstart, Visions without Borders, the Good Samaritan Mission, AME Church in Miami (ship items to Haiti) the Idaho Falls Rescue Mission, Community Safety Network, Senior Center, Pinedale Thrift Shop, St. Vincent de Paul Thrift Shop in IF and the Animal Shelter all received items from the sale. Recycling took place all week and seems to increase every year. Thanks Larry VanGenderen for coming at the end of the sale to recycle once again this year.

The cashiers gave information sheets on PCJH all of our programs to each shopper and we are hopeful there will be many new faces at church very soon.

The Rummage Sale is not meant to be a fundraiser, but as a nice sideline we earned $7113 for PCJH. This number will grow throughout the year as some better items placed on consignment sell during the year.

Hope more of you will join in the fun next year. Sincerely, Irene Lund and Diane Nichols, co-chairs

P.S. It's not too early to start setting aside donations for next year's sale.

Young People Matter

Not long ago, I read some recent statistics regarding congregational life in America which reinforced what many already experience, namely that churches decline when young people disengage. According to the Fuller Institute for Youth Ministries (and the 2015 US Census Bureau data), adults ages 18-29 year olds comprise of 22% of the adult population. Yet that same group represent less than 10% of church attendees nationwide. Multiple studies show that 40-50% of youth group seniors (like those in our own church) drift from God and their faith after they graduate from high school. The crazy thing is that the results were the same regardless of the size of the church, the denomination, the geographical location, the slickness of the youth program, the type of worship services (contemporary or traditional), the modernity of building, the age of the pastors, or the size of the budget. But that's not the end of the story...

Other churches are making intentional choices to involve and engage teenagers and young people. Their secret? At their core, they fully believe that young people matter. As Kendra Dean puts it, "Youth ministry is the church's ministry, not just that of specialists who can "relate" to young people. The mandate to be there for young people belongs to the Christian community not to any individual or group of individuals."ii According to Erwin MacManus, "Healthy churches reach young people, and young people make churches healthier." John Ortberg writes, "You can't build a great church with a bad student ministry, and you can't build a great student ministry with a languishing church."iii

One thing is for sure: PCJH is far from a languishing church! All of us want to strengthen the youth and young adult ministries of our church. We have a rich history of top notch people who have invested in the lives of students for years. Thank you to those who have sacrificially given their time, love, and efforts! Due to a variety of new circumstances, we've found ourselves facing a unique chapter in youth and young adult ministries where ministry leaders are hard to come by and adults who have a heart for young people are difficult to identify.

I've been fortunate enough these past few months to be working with two newly formed ministry teams; one for children's ministry and the other for youth ministry. Our youth ministry team, comprised of Liz Collins (our new interim youth coordinator), Barb Andrews, Erin Rosenberg, Tena Webb, and Ken Blount, has been wrestling with this very issue. Our goal is to create a sustainable youth ministry model that reaches out to students and young people with the Good News of Jesus Christ. What students need more than anything else are people who know the life-giving love of Jesus and want to share it with someone else. Let's be that person - that church - with our simple interactions on Sundays (or other times as well). And if you are able to give a couple of hours a week, you could change a kid's life forever. Ministry leaders simply invest in student's lives, have a ton of fun, work as a team, and get to share the person of Jesus. How cool is that!?!

Last week at our last youth group meeting one student prayed, "Thank you God that we can come here and learn about you." It made my day. Because in God's eyes, young people matter.

If you are interested in learning more about how to be involved in the PCJH youth ministry, please contact either Liz Collins or Tammy Mitchell at 307-734-0388.

Clerk's Corner

Submitted By: Ken Blount

Session continued their study of the Being Reformed class for Ruling Elders. Study continued to focus on the the Confessions & Doctrine of PCUSA. Discussion topics were elder led with Peter Keenan discussing the Second Helvetic Confession. Warren VanGenderen and Barbara Carlsberg providing a historical background of the Westminster Confession and a discussion of the authority of scripture and the sovereignty of God. Alan Lund provided an overview and discussion of the newest addition to the Book of Confessions: The Confession of Belhar.

The vision team provided Session with an update on recent meetings where they have been working on a summary of core beliefs and a list of values that define PCJH. Session also continued discussions on the upcoming eclipse and voted to suspend all Church activities on the day of the eclipse to help mitigate our impact on the community.

Music Corner:

MUSIC IS MEANT TO BE SHARED

My wife, Mandy, doesn't think of herself as much of a singer, but holding an infant in her arms at bedtime, she can rock You Are My Sunshine with the best of them. When you want to calm children down and connect with them, there's just no substitute for singing. Different people respond to different songs, and sometimes the song that evokes that deep emotional response can be surprising. My son Finn attached so powerfully to the old hymn I Shall Not Be Moved that we read Jeremiah 17:7-8, on which the song is based, at his baptism. At 9 months old, Finn literally chose his own baptismal verse; neither Mandy nor I had any particular connection to the verse before then.

Our Music Academy wrapped up the spring semester with a wonderful recital on June 7th, and to introduce the event I reflected briefly on the purpose of teaching and performing music, and why it is the appropriate work of a church. It comes down to the unique way in which music speaks to our souls. We all have a song or two in our lives that we return to for connecting with our innermost selves, calming our nerves and grounding ourselves in love. And though it feels like you've always known it, in fact, one day long ago somebody sang that song to you for the first time. Music isn't meant to be created selfishly and locked up for safe keeping. It can only do its powerful, soul-redeeming work when it is shared.

What songs redeem your soul and connect you to God's love? They tend not to be top radio hits, but songs you learned when you were young. They are usually simple to sing, and the words aren't particularly profound at first glance. But they've stayed with you for a reason. Thinking about them makes you smile. But singing those songs probably makes you choke up. That's when the nostalgia – that indistinct memory of God's goodness which is built into all of us – overwhelms you, reconnecting you with your true identity and purpose.

Go ahead – sing a little of one of those songs right now. If somebody hears you, let them. Maybe you'll give them a gift that will last the rest of their lives.

- Kenny Hadden, Worship Coordinator

STEWARDSHIP

Friends and Family of PCJH, We're pleased to announce our 2017 mid-year Stewardship Campaign, in celebration of the practice of giving tithes and offerings, one of the core rituals of our faith, an acknowledgment and celebration of God's extraordinary generosity.

Our church's friends and family have given with extraordinary generosity this year, for which we are deeply appreciative. Our goal is to receive 58% of our annual giving needs by July 31 (which is 58% of the way through the year). To achieve this, we need to raise $97,630.

There are many ways to give in addition to the moment of contemplation when baskets are passed in worship:

- You may mail a check to the church office. (Please don't send cash through the mail.)
- You may contribute by clicking on the yellow "Donate" button on the bottom right of the screen on our church's website www.pcjh.org.
- You may arrange for periodic contributions to be made from your checking account by contacting your bank and asking about "recurring bill pay" or ACH.
- You may contribute by texting a dollar amount to (307) 200-2175. (For example, text: $1. You will be asked to provide billing information the first time you send a text.)
- You may arrange for one-time or periodic contributions to be made from your credit or debit card accounts by contacting Kim Bogen through the church office at (307) 734-0388 or kbogen@pcjh.org.

We deeply appreciate your support of our church's mission and programs.

Yours in Christ, The PCJH Stewardship Team

Everyone has
